

We are looking for YOU to join our innovative, international Product Development Team in Vienna!

Software Support and Quality Assurance Engineer (m/w/d)

You are thrilled by contributing proactively to a highly professional, international team with entrepreneurial thinking? You value the well-known brand of an international organization, however thriving in a startup mentality? You want to develop your own ideas? You love a relaxed, professional working environment? You are passionate about software, talented in understanding complex issues and problem-solving? – You are the person we are looking for!
#greatteam #innovativethinking #makeanimpact

How you spend your day with us

- You are part of the Software Development Team, working directly with the Product Owner and solving any support requests related to our innovative online product SpeechLive
- You understand our clients' way of working and by thorough problem analyses you integrate this information in product development and UX-improvement
- You are part of the Product Prioritization Meetings where you contribute with your expertise and feed back client requests
- You play an important part in new Product Releases and you are testing new software before go-live
- You are an important link between the Software Development Team and the internal Technical Support Team as well as our international Support Team members in the regional sales organizations for whom you provide trainings for our new products

What you bring in

- Your technical education (HTL, university, FH) and/or a minimum of 3 years of professional experience
- Your know-how and interest in software products
- Your basic knowledge in a scripting language (e.g. Java-Script, Python, PHP) and general SQL expertise are an advantage
- Your experience in test automation is an add-on

Your contact

Ursula Pasewald-Steyr
Human Resources

Tel: +43 664 82 46 418
recruiting@speech.com

Speech Processing Solutions GmbH
Gutheil-Schoder-Gasse 8-12
1100 Wien

Product website
www.philips.com/dictation

Company website
www.speech.com

- Your analytical thinking, your drive for excellence in troubleshooting and improving software products
- Your excellent grasp of English language; German is welcomed
- Your accuracy and quality awareness
- Your excellent communication skills, your proactive and solution-oriented way of working are crucial
- Your ability as a team player to collaborate and work with a can-do-approach

What we offer

- Products under the strong, well known and recognized Philips brand
- Learning opportunities and room for individual development
- Employee benefits: canteen, fruits, brainfood, BBQ, convenient public transport connection, free parking spaces, health-care activities, 24hr accident insurance, pension scheme, fitness center membership via works council, etc. and of course we provide you with brain food, free coffee, tea and high-quality water!
- A salary which will be decided upon your experience and qualification. According to legal requirements we provide the information that the minimum annual gross salary for this role amounts to € 39,000.- (38.5hrs/week).

For the time being, all interviews are held via videocalls. Also, your start of work and your onboarding would be in home office until we are going to enjoy our most modern working environment in our open space offices again.